

Alex Newman is an award-winning international journalist, educator, author, and consultant. In addition to serving as president of the small media and information consulting firm Liberty Sentinel Media, Inc., he has written for a wide array of publications in the United States and abroad. He currently serves as a contributor to WND (World Net Daily), FreedomProject, The New American magazine, Crisis magazine, and more. He has also written for numerous newspapers and magazines such as the Gainesville Sun, Liberty magazine, The Diplomat magazine, Swiss News magazine, Sunshine State News, Campus Reform, Alachua County Today, and many more. His work has been featured at Drudge, Breitbart, Fox News, and many other outlets. And his writing has been published in major newspapers across America.

In addition, Alex has authored and co-authored several books. One of his major works was an exposé of government schools with Dr. Samuel Blumenfeld called Crimes of the Educators published by WND Books. It was endorsed by conservative leaders ranging from Phyllis Schlafly to Ron Paul. Alex also co-wrote an exposé of Obama with some of America's leading investigative journalists including Cliff Kincaid, Trevor Loudon, Joel Gilbert, and others. He also wrote an e-book on the Deep State as well as a book exposing the World Federalist movement. Alex has presented his book on hundreds of radio and TV shows including Newsmax, One America News, the Dove Network, the Christian Television Network, the SonLife Broadcasting Network, and many more.

Alex also serves as a director for the organization Bear Witness Central, which works to protect and preserve the U.S. Constitution by educating the public in partnership with other conservative organizations. In addition, he serves on several advisory boards for education-focused organizations, including U.S. Parents Involved in Education (USPIE) and the Samuel L. Blumenfeld Foundation for Literacy. He is also a Leadership Fellow at the James Madison Institute, Florida's premier free-market think tank.

In education, Alex serves as the executive editor of G. Edward Griffin's newly formed Red Pill University. For the last seven years, Alex has also been teaching advanced economics to some of America's brightest high-school seniors through Freedom Project Academy, an accredited K-12 school offering a classical education based on Judeo-Christian values. He also has an education blog called The Newman Report. Before that, Alex was the top-performing field representative for the Leadership Institute, where he worked organizing conservative student groups and publications while recruiting young conservatives into the movement.

As a consultant, Alex has worked on a wide array of campaigns, ranging from political campaigns for Congress to marketing campaigns for non-profit groups and international businesses. He also spent time working in marketing and branding as Creative Director, Europe, for a leading international branding firm based in Miami. Alex has a B.S. degree in journalism from the University of Florida with an emphasis on economics and international relations, as well as an A.A. degree in foreign languages from Miami-Dade College.

Alex has lived in eight countries (US, Mexico, Brazil, Switzerland, France, South Africa, Spain, Sweden) on four continents and speaks multiple languages fluently and more at varying degrees of proficiency. His work has been cited by governments and major media outlets around the world. Alex is a frequent guest on national and international radio shows, and has been on many of America's top programs including the Michael Savage show, the Janet Mefford show, the Phyllis Schlafly show, and many more. He is a weekly guest on the nationally syndicated Phyllis Schlafly's Eagles program as well as the nationally syndicated Inside the News program with Paul Jensen. He is also a frequent speaker on TV programs and at conferences, together reaching tens of millions of people.

Alex is happily married and has four children. Along with his family, he currently splits his time between various places, including Europe and the United States.
